Bronze Sculpture by Dave McGary
"Not Afraid of Pawnee Maquette"
Limited Edition: 29/50
27 H " x 18 W" 9" D
38 pounds

Dave McGary's soul-stirring bronze sculptures document the culture of Native Americans. On Display now at Meyer Gallery – 305 Main Street Park City

Valued at $17,000

One of the many practices that McGary learned while studying bronze casting under the American sculptor Harry Jackson was that of applying paints, as well as patinas, to finished surfaces. In Not Afraid of Pawnee, a bust of the late nineteenth-century Yankton Sioux warrior, McGary's coloration operates aesthetically and symbolically: the black of the Sioux's face paint suggests his deadened feelings of revenge, and the red of his shirt the power he derives from Mother Earth. Not Afraid of Pawnee wears as a sign of his battle prowess his characteristic timber-wolf headdress, fringed with golden eagle feathers, which sacred, must never touch the ground. On his left shoulder, he supports a Spencer rifle encased in a beaded Sioux case.

Oil & Wax on Canvas

50 " x 46"

“The smallest things are often what connect us as human beings. The calming presence of a sibling or friend, moments of anticipation, tenderness, and personal triumph are realities we share. These paintings are based on memories, both personal and borrowed. They are an attempt to explore a collective human experience.

Details and features remain ambiguous, inviting the viewer to seek something of themselves in the work. The figure (human and animal) has provided a generous vehicle for color, form and surface to evolve. Paint and wax are layered, dripped and scraped to create a sense that the subject is still emerging... still ‘becoming’.”

Fisher Vineyards was founded by Fred and Juelle Fisher in 1973. The winery is nestled on the western face of Spring Mountain at an elevation of 1,500 feet. We are blessed with five outstanding estate vineyards in two of California's most prestigious wine regions: the Napa Valley and the Sonoma Mayacamas Mountains. Our steadfast belief is that great wines begin in great vineyards. We therefore recognize and acknowledge these vineyards as the origin of our fine wines. Our winemaking techniques, emanating from traditional French methods, have been adapted with great care and experimentation for over a quarter of a century to bring forth wines reflecting the true beauty and potential of the grapes from these choice vineyards. From these two estates come six Bordeaux-styled wines; four single vineyard Cabernets and two Cabernet blends; these magnums represent the 2007 vintage, which was a vintage with small production and concentrated fruit. Also included is a private VIP tour of Fisher Vineyards and lunch for four people in the Madrone Grove above the winery overlooking the celebrated Wedding Vineyard. Lunch will be prepared in the rustic Tuscan wood-burning oven in the Grove. The Fisher Family invites you to stroll around the vineyards, hike the terraces, play a rousing game of Pétanque or simply sit on a rock enjoy the view and sip our delicious wines while lunch is being prepared. Dave McGary, at 52, is becoming a living legend among contemporary artists of the American West. He is considered the Master of Realism depicting Native American Indians and his many awards during the past decade more than verify his popularity among collectors and fellow artists. His ability to capture the human spirit knows no equal, and his attention to detail in form and historic content are exhilarating.

Not Afraid of Pawnee, a Yankton Sioux, lived in the late 1800's. Known for his great prowess and courage as a warrior, he successfully led his warriors against the fierce Pawnee. He is depicted wearing his Timber Wolf headdress which exemplified craft in war. He is carrying a Spencer Rifle with brass trade tacks encased in a beaded Sioux gun case. His war bonnet, with spiked feathers of the Golden Eagle, is considered sacred and must never touch the ground. His face paint of black coloring symbolized the fires of revenge burned out of his soul and the color red, the power he uses from Mother Earth.

VALUE: $2500

- One (1) 6 Liter Bottle of 2007 Elevage, Chimney Rock Winery
- Private Dinner for Sixteen (16) People at the Riverhorse on Main prepared by Executive Chef, Seth Adams

The verdict is out on Chimney Rock Winery’s 2007 Elevage – it is superlative. We found true perfection in many ways this year. The berry size in the vineyard was perfection, the aromas extraordinary, the body of these wines is incomparable. We are truly excited to share the gift of 2007 with our fans. Elevage, our proprietary blend demonstrates the classic texture of Stags Leap District – velvet-smooth tannins frame a complex blend inspired by Cheval Blanc.

The Riverhorse on Main is one of the oldest and most distinguished restaurants on Park City’s historic Main Street. Since its opening on New Year’s Eve, 1987, the Riverhorse has been highly regarded by both restaurant critics and the dining public. In 1995, the Riverhorse became the first restaurant in Utah to receive the DiRōNA Award. This very prestigious honor, dedicated to “excellence in dining,” was bestowed that year on only 223 restaurants in North America. The Riverhorse has maintained this distinguished honor each year since. On January 16th, 2000, the Riverhorse received the ultimate honor in the hospitality industry, when it was selected by the Mobil Travel Guide as one of the top 108 restaurants in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. The Riverhorse is the first restaurant in Utah to ever receive this highly coveted award and the only restaurant in the state to ever be honored with both the DiRōNA Award and the Mobil Four Star Award.
