Biography:

Etta was foaled in a BLM holding facility in Nevada. She was adopted with Shelby to be his buddy in making his transition from the wild to domesticated life and learning to trust people. Etta's eagerness and curiosity towards humans at the adoption made her an easy choice for a therapy horse.

Since her arrival at the National Ability Center and beginning her training, she has proved to be a quick learner and very trusting. Even though they cannot be ridden yet, Etta and Shelby are helping to educate participants and visitors about the wild horses and their usefulness as therapy horses.

The National Ability Center Equestrian Program would like to thank the Salt Lake City BLM Field Office for their support and assistance in helping Etta and Shelby find their potential. If you would like to know more about mustang adoptions, please call Jan or Abby at 435.200.0992.
